Course Objective

Decentralization is a widely used concept, and it is closely linked with democracy, development and good governance. Local government is one form of a decentralized system which is affected by the transfer of authority or responsibility for decision making, management or resources allocation from higher level of government to its subordinate units. This interdisciplinary course analyses the complexities of local governance, both rural and urban, in contemporary India. It discusses some of the lesser known aspects of the interface between panchayats and other institutions of local governance, whether district administration or parastatal agencies and civil society organizations.

UNIT - I: Introduction:

- a) Meaning, Nature, Scope and Significance of Local Government
- b) Evolution of Local Governments in India
- c) Community Development Programme and Committees on Local Governance

UNIT - II: Decentralisation and Development

- a) Decentralisation, types and challenges
- b) Democratic Decentralisation in India
- c) Democratic Development (Rural Development and Urban Development)

UNIT - III: Organization Structure:

- a) The 73rd Constitutional Amendment Act
- b) and 74th Constitutional Amendment Act
- c) Structures of Rural Local Government - Composition, Functions and Role of Gram Sabha, Gram Panchayat, Panchayat Samiti and Zila Parishad
- d) Structures of Urban Local Government - Composition, Functions and Role of Municipal Corporation, Municipal Council and Nagar Panchayat

UNIT - IV: Accountability and Control

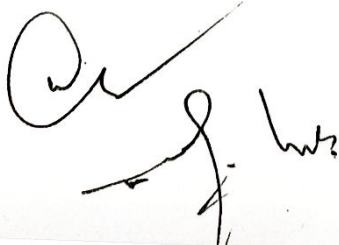

- a) Human Resource Management at Local level
- b) Finances of Local Governments
- c) Executive Control, Legislative Control and Financial Control

UNIT - V: Issue Areas

- a) State and Local Government Relations
- b) Local Governments in the context of Globalization
- c) Problems and Challenges of Local Governments

Course Code: PGPPA2F002T

Course Objective

Finance is the fuel for the engine of public administration and it was defined as government is finance. This is quite correct, because almost everything the government does, require money. This course provides an overview of the activities, participants, and politics involved in the collection, custody, and expenditure of public revenue at various levels of government. Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to have knowledge of basic principles in public finance, accounting, and auditing that relate to public budgeting and the budgetary process.

UNIT- I: Introduction

- Public Finance: Evolution, Meaning and Scope
- Public Revenue: Meaning, Need, Classification and Principles of Revenue
- Public Expenditure: Meaning, Need and Classification
- Financial Administration: Meaning and Scope and Significance

UNIT- II: Tax Governance

- Concept of Taxation
- Classification of Taxes
- Principles of Taxation
- Tax Governance in India

UNIT- III: Budget and Governance

- Public Budget: Meaning, Purpose and Significance
- Budget Preparation, Enactment and Execution
- Types of Budget: Line-Item Budget, Program Budget and Performance Budget
- Types of Budget: PPBS, Zero -Based Budgeting, Gender Budget and Green Budget

UNIT-IV: Financial Administration in India

- Fiscal Federalism: Centre-State Financial Relations
- Ministry of Finance: Organization & Functions
- Finance Commission: Composition & Functions
- Monetary Policy & Fiscal Policy

UNIT-V: Control over Finances

- Fiscal Management: Public Debt and Deficit Financing
- Audit: Meaning and Types
- Comptroller and Auditor General of India
- Parliamentary Financial Committees

Course Objective

Public policy making is not merely a technical function of government; rather it is a complex interactive process influenced by the diverse nature of socio-political and other environmental forces. Public policies in the developing countries possess certain peculiarities of their own by virtue of being influenced by an unstable socio-political environment, and face various problems and challenges. This course outline of concepts and models provide useful guidance and helps the students to undertake a comprehensive investigation for the suitable models to analyze our policy making process.

UNIT- I: Concepts of Public Policy

- a) Rationalism
- b) Incrementalism
- c) Mixed Scanning Model
- d) Garbage Can Model

UNIT-II: Theories of Public Policy - I

- a) Political Systems Theory (Black Box Model)
- b) Institutionalism
- c) Process Theory
- d) Game Theory

UNIT- III: Theories of Public Policy - II

- a) Group Theory
- b) Elite Theory
- c) Public Choice Theory
- d) Systems Theory

UNIT- IV: Models of Public Policy - I

- a) Yehezkel Dror: Mega Policy and Meta Policy
- b) Aaron Wildavsky: Speaking Truth to Power
- c) Geoffrey Vickers: Art of Judgment
- d) J.W. Kindon: Streams and Windows model

UNIT- V: Models of Public Policy - II

Course Objective:

The term governance has made an impressive career in a number of disciplines concerned with regulation, order and law. The word 'Governance' appears in diverse academic disciplines. At general level, governance refers to theories and issues of social coordination and the nature of all patterns of rule. Understanding of governance has changed the understanding of various concepts of state and its institutions. New jargon of words measuring governance and innovations in governance emerged in the literature. In this background, the present course is aimed to provide an in-depth understanding of the concepts and models of Governance.

UNIT - I: Governance: Important Concepts

- a) New Governance and Governance Networks
- b) Collaborative Governance
- c) Global Governance and UNSDGs

UNIT -II: Engaged Governance

- a) Participatory Governance: An Overview
- b) Rationale of Participation
- c) Challenges in Engagement and Participation
- d) Case Studies: Kudumshree (Kerala), Grameen Bank (Bangladesh), Participatory Budgeting (Brazil), Watershed Development Programme (Ralegansiddhi)

UNIT -III: Innovations in Governance

- a) Innovations in Public Services: An Historical Perspective
- b) Innovations in Governance: Conceptual Framework
- c) Public Governance and Innovations: Administrative Reform to Innovation Discourse
- d) Institutional Framework for Promoting Innovations

UNIT - IV: Measuring Governance

- a) Measuring Governance: Concept, Need and Significance
- b) Measuring Governance: Methodology & Inadequacy of Existing Measurement
- c) World Wide Governance Indicators

UNIT - V: Models and Agencies of Measuring Governance

- a) Models: Procedural Measure and Capacity Measure
- b) Models: Output Measure and Autonomy Measure
- c) Agencies: UNDP Human Development Report-Human Development Index
- d) Agencies: Transparency International-Corruption Perceptions Index

DISSERTATION

Course Code: PGPPA3C007D

Credit: 4

Course Objective:

The Masters level dissertation is distinguished from other forms of writing as it seeks answers, explanations, makes comparisons and arrives at generalisations which can be used to extend theory. The dissertation is the final stage of the Masters degree and provides the student with the opportunity to show that he/she has gained the necessary skills and knowledge in order to organise and conduct research. The dissertation should demonstrate that the student is skilled in identifying an area suitable for research, setting research objectives, organising and critically analysing the relevant literature, devising an appropriate research methodology, analysing the primary data selected and drawing conclusions. The dissertation is a 'formal' document and there are 'rules' that govern the way in which it is presented. It must have chapters that provide an introduction, a literature review, a justification of the data selected for analysis and research methodology, analysis of the data and, finally, conclusions and recommendations.

The dissertation carries 4 Credits and divided into the following topics

1. Problem Identification and Review of Literature - 30 Marks
2. Research Proposal and Presentation - 20 Marks
3. Data Collection, Analysis, Interpretation and Report Writing - 30 Marks
4. Viva Voce (Mandatory) - 20 Marks

Course Title: Civil Services in India (Interdisciplinary Course)

Credit: 4

Course Code: PGPPA31002T

Course Objective

The term 'civil services' covers the large number of permanent officials required to run the machinery of government. The core of parliamentary government, which we have adopted in India, is that the ultimate responsibility for running the administration rests with the elected representatives of the people. Ministers lay down the policy and it is for the civil servants to carry out this policy. This interdisciplinary course aims to present an overview of the structure, trends and issues related to the civil services in India.

UNIT - I: Introduction

- a) Bureaucracy: Meaning, Scope and Significance
- b) Civil Service: Concept, Significance and Evolution
- c) Classification of Civil Services

UNIT - II: Recruitment and Training

- a) Recruitment: Methods and Significance
- b) Union Public Service Commission and Other Service Commissions
- c) Training of Public Servants in India

UNIT - III: Promotion, Pay and Discipline

- a) Promotion System in India
- b) Salary and Service Conditions
- c) Disciplinary Procedure for Civil Servants

UNIT - IV: Civil Service-Citizenry Interface

- a) Accountability and Corruption
- b) Civil Society and Administration
- c) Technology and Changing Nature of Public Services

UNIT V: Indian Civil Services: Major Issues

- a) Generalists and Specialists Controversy
- b) Civil Service Reforms
- c) ARC Recommendations Ist & IInd

Course Objective:

Statistical methods and computer applications are very useful instrument for the quality social science research. Computers are extremely useful for the processing of large quantities of data and reducing data to more manageable and easily understood forms. So the objective of this course is to enhance the knowledge about statistical methods and computer applications among the students of public policy and public administration.

UNIT- I

- a) Meaning, importance and Scope of Statistics
- b) Type of Data: Primary and Secondary, univariate, multivariate categorical data.
- c) Classification of Data: Function, Rule and Bases, Graphical representation of data (Histogram & Ogive).

UNIT- II

- a) Mean Median and Mode.
- b) Measures of deviation: average deviation, standard deviation.
- c) Normal distribution: Characteristics of Normal and probability curve and deviation from normality (Skewness and Kurtosis).

UNIT- III

- a) Estimate of Relation: Examining relationships by scatter plots.
- b) Types and methods correlation Analysis (Pearson Product Moment co-efficient of correlation & Rank Order co-efficient of correlation).
- c) Regression: Linear and nonlinear regression.

UNIT- IV

- a) Parametric tests: Critical ratio, Analysis of Variance (ANOVA)
- b) Non-Parametric tests: Chi-square
- c) Types of hypotheses, Confidence interval, level of significance and hypotheses testing, One tailed and two tailed tests, Types I and Type II Error

UNIT- V

- a) Use of computers in research: Data processing (Editing, coding and tabulation)
- b) Excel (single and multiple cells)
- c) SPSS

Course Objective:

Social Policy in a development context is the overarching framework of a wide-ranging inquiry into social policy that is developmental, democratic and socially inclusive. It is increasingly evident that social policy has a significance that goes beyond even the valid concerns about basic equity and minimal living standards, which form part of the social and economic rights of citizens. This course will explore the interplay between democracy and social policy from the perspective of state and market and civil society and focus on the role of democratic forces in the development of social policy.

UNIT- I: Introduction

- a) Social Policy and Administration: Meaning, Scope and Significance
- b) Relationship of Social Policy with Academic Disciplines
- c) Social Justice: Concept and Philosophy
- d) Social Exclusion and Inclusion

UNIT- II: Welfare States

- a) Social context of welfare
- b) Inequality and Redistribution
- c) Welfare States: Models and Regimes
- d) Welfare States: Patterns of development

UNIT- III: Social Welfare

- a) Values and Ideology in Social Welfare
- b) Strategies for Social Welfare
- c) Public Services and Welfare bureaucracies
- d) Administrative Process of Social Welfare

UNIT- IV: Emerging Trends

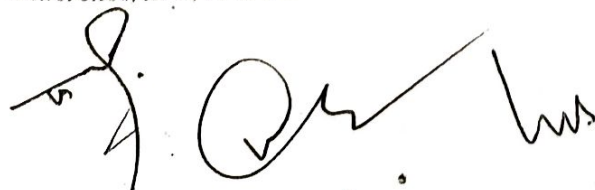

- a) Affirmative Action and Positive Discrimination
- b) Policy for Inclusive Development: Growth with Equity
- c) Social Participation: Issues of Gender, Weaker Sections and Environment
- d) Distribution of Welfare - State Vs. Market Debate

UNIT- V: Issues and Interventions in Social Policy

Decentralization is a widely used concept, and it is closely linked with democracy, development and good governance. Local government is one form of a decentralized system which is affected by the transfer of authority or responsibility for decision making, management or resources allocation from higher level of government to its subordinate units. This interdisciplinary course analyses the complexities of local governance, both rural and urban, in contemporary India. It discusses some of the lesser known aspects of the interface between panchayats and other institutions of local governance, whether district administration or parastatal agencies and civil society organizations.

UNIT - I: Introduction:

- Meaning, Nature, Scope and Significance of Local Government
- Evolution of Local Governments in India
- Community Development Programme
- Committees on Local Governance

UNIT - II: Decentralisation and Development

- Decentralisation, types and challenges
- Democratic Decentralisation in India
- Democratic Development - Rural Development
- Democratic Development - Urban Development

UNIT - III: Organization Structure:

- 73rd Constitutional Amendment Act
- 74th Constitutional Amendment Act
- Structures of Rural Local Government - Composition, Functions and Role of Gram Sabha, Gram Panchayat, Panchayat Samiti and Zila Parishad
- Structures of Urban Local Government - Composition, Functions and Role of Municipal Corporation, Municipal Council and Nagar Panchayat

UNIT - IV: Accountability and Control

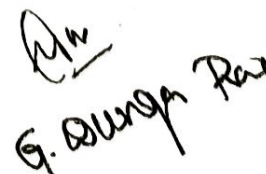

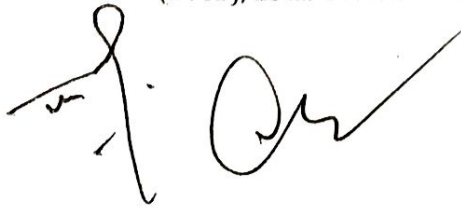

- Human Resource Management at Local level
- Finances of Local Governments
- Executive Control and Legislative Control
- Financial Control

UNIT - V: Issue Areas

- State and Local Government Relations
- Local Governments in the context of Globalization
- Problems and Challenges of Rural Local Governments
- Problems and Challenges of Urban Local Governments

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY AND STATISTICAL METHODS

Course Code: PMPA1C001T

Credits: 04

Course Objectives

Research is not confined to science and technology only. Research is an active, diligent and systematic process of inquiry in order to discover, interpret or revise facts, events, behaviours and theories. Applying the outcome of research for the refinement of knowledge in other subjects, or in enhancing the quality of human life also becomes a kind of research and development. Research is done with the help of study, experiment, observation, analysis, comparison and reasoning. Research is in fact ubiquitous.

Unit-I: Scientific Approach to Research

- Concept, characteristics and types of Research in social sciences
- Research in Social Sciences with special reference to Public Administration and Public Policy.
- Formulation and Statement of Research Problem
- Hypotheses: Concept and Types

UNIT - II: Methods of Research

- Historical Research
- Descriptive Research
- Experimental Research
- Qualitative Methods of Research; Phenomenology, Ethnography, Case Studies

UNIT - III: Methods of Data Collection

- Sampling: Concept and Types
- Types of Data: Primary and Secondary Sources of Data
- Tools for Data Collection: Observation, Questionnaire, Interview, Rating Scale and Socio-metric Techniques.
- Research report writing, Preparation of Research proposal and writing of Research papers.

UNIT-IV: Descriptive Statistics

- Raw scores and Frequency Distribution, Graphical Representation of Frequency Distribution – Polygon and Histogram, Cumulative Frequency Curve, ogive and smoothed frequency curve.
- Description and Relationship of groups: measures of central tendencies and dispersion, correlation, assumptions, uses and interpretation
- Relative Positions, Percentile Rank, z-scores.

Unit V- Inferential Statistics

- Normal Distribution: Theoretical and empirical distributions, Deviation from normality and underlying causes, characteristics of Normal Probability curve and its applications, Parametric and non-parametric tests, Confidence interval and level of significance, one tailed and two tailed test, Type I and Type II Error.
- T-test, Analysis of variance (ANOVA)-concept, assumptions and uses.
- Regression Analysis
- Chi-Square test, Mann-Whitney U test

Course Title: PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION: THEORETICAL PERSPECTIVES

Course Code: PHPPA1C002T

Course Objective

Public Administration in theoretical perspective has been specifically crafted to give new life to public administration theory and practice by helping students view the discipline through a variety of perspectives. Designed for the capstone course in research program, as well as a fresh approach for courses in PA theory and organizational theory, this unique course provides a culminating experience--bringing together what has been learned in previous courses without simply rehashing old content. It offers a comprehensive guide to major approaches to PA, and synthesizes them to deepen the understanding of the discipline.

Unit I: Introduction

- a) Paradigms of Public Administration
- b) State and Evolution of Public Administration and present status
- c) Globalization and Public Administration
- d) Post-Modern Public Administration

Unit II: Approaches

- a) Classical Approach
- b) Bureaucratic Approach
- c) Human Relations and Behavioural Approach
- d) Ecological Approach

Unit III: Modern Approaches

- a) Public Choice Approach
- b) New Public Management Approach
- c) Minnowbrook - I, II & III
- d) Critical Theory

Unit IV: Emerging Trends

- a) New Public Service
- b) Good Governance
- c) E-Governance
- d) Future of Public Administration

Unit V: Contemporary Debates

- a) Public Accountability and Social Accountability
- b) Public Administration and Public Policy
- c) Public Administration and Governance
- d) Public Administration in Transition

Course Title: PUBLIC POLICY: THEORETICAL PERSPECTIVES

Course Code: AMPPA1C003T

Course Objective

This course begins by presenting a brief analysis of the literature from the traditional policy schools. It then evaluates the specific theoretical framework adopted in understanding the theoretical works. It discusses how different perspectives on public policy contents cannot be determined by disciplinary boundaries but by whatever appears appropriate to the circumstances of the time and the nature. It adds that policy analysis is located at the junction of previously established knowledge from which it borrows its principal concepts. Further, it explains the implementation and evaluation of public policy.

UNIT- I: Introduction:

- a) Nature, Scope and Importance of Public Policy
- b) Evolution of Public Policy and Policy Sciences
- c) Global Policy Process and the role of Transnational Actors
- d) Impact of Globalization on Policy Making

UNIT- II: Approaches to Public Policy Analysis

- a) The Logical Positivist Approach
- b) The Phenomenological Approach
- c) The Participatory Approach
- d) The Normative Approach

UNIT- III: Models of Public Policy

- a) Harold Lasswell : Policy Sciences
- b) Yehezkel Dror : Mega Policy and Meta Policy
- c) Charles Lindblom: Incrementalism
- d) Elinor Ostrom : Institutional Rational Choice
- e) Amartya Sen : Development as Freedom

UNIT- IV: Policy Implementation and Evaluation

- a) Concept of Policy Implementation
- b) Techniques of Policy Implementation
- c) Concept of Policy Evaluation
- d) Constraints of Public Policy Evaluation

UNIT- V: Constraints on Public Policy

- a) Economic Constraints on Public Policy
- b) Political Feasibility: Interests and Power
- c) Institutional Constraints on Policy
- d) Social and Cultural Factors: Constraining and Enabling Policy Reversals

Course Title: PUBLIC SYSTEMS and GOVERNANCE

Course Code: PHPPA1C004T

Course Objectives:

Given the size of government and its role in the economy, the contribution of government to national economic growth is of great significance, especially when looking at change rates over time. Its achievements, or otherwise, emerge in the quality and nature of the goods and services it provides, its redistributive activities, and in the nature of its regulation of market and individual behaviour. There is a persistent problem in public management reform recommendations to evaluate the performance of governance. This course will draw the attention of various issues involved in the study of public systems and train the students to evaluate the existing models.

UNIT- I: Introduction

- a) Public Systems Management: Meaning, Scope and Characteristics
- b) Context of Public Systems Management: Constitutional, Political, and Socio-Economic
- c) Public Service Delivery: Meaning, Scope and Significance
- d) Public Service Delivery: Conceptual Framework

Unit-II: Governance

- a) Concept of Governance: An Introduction
- b) Governance: Role of Bureaucracy and Political Executive
- c) Governance: Role of Legislature and the Judiciary
- d) Inter-Governmental Relations in the process of Government

Unit - III: Institutional Framework for Fighting Corruption

- a) Evolution of the Anti-Corruption Laws in India
- b) Corruption Involving the Private Sector
- c) Evaluation of the Anti-Corruption Machinery in India
- d) Law and Good Governance

Unit - IV: Regulatory Governance

- a) Administrative Tribunals
- b) National Water Tribunal
- c) National Green Tribunal

Unit- V – Emerging Trends

- a) Networking and Inter-institutional Co-ordination in Governance
- b) New Technologies and Public Systems Management
- c) Development, Displacement and Rehabilitation
- d) Citizen Grievances Redressal Institutions and Mechanisms (RTI, Consumer Forums and Citizen Charters)

Course Title: Administrative Thinkers-I (CORE COURSE)

Credit: 4

Course Cod: PGPPA1C003T

Course Objective

A theory, to be useful, should accurately describe a real world event or phenomenon. The validity of any theory depends on its capacity to describe, to explain and to predict. Theory in public administration means to present evidence through definitions, concepts, and metaphors that promote understanding. The chronological narration of administrative theory from oriental thought through classical and human relations school helps the student to grasp the eclectic prescription. The presentation of the individual thinker and their struggle for the search of knowledge would be an inspiring episode.

UNIT I: Administrative Theory:

- a) Significance and importance of theory
- b) Evolution and Emerging Trends in Administrative theory
- c) Oriental Thought: Kautilya and Sun Tzu

UNIT II: Administrative Structure and Process:

- a) Henri Fayol- Foundations of Management
- b) Frederick Winslow Taylor- Scientific Management
- c) Luther Gulick and Lyndall Urwick- Science of Administration

UNIT III: Classical Thought: Bureaucracy:

- a) Max Weber - Bureaucracy
- b) Karl Marx - State and Bureaucracy
- c) Samuel Krislov and Donald Kingsley- Representative Bureaucracy

UNIT IV: Social System Thought:

- a) Mary Parker Follett - Constructive Conflict and Leadership
- b) Elton Mayo - Human Relations Movement
- c) Chester Barnard - Formal and Informal Organizations and Functions of Executive

UNIT V: Writers on Administration:

- a) Robert Dahl - Problems of Science of Administration
- b) Dwight Waldo - The Administrative State and Future of Public Administration

Globalization is the cluster of technological, economic, and political innovations that have drastically reduced the barriers to economic, political and cultural exchange. The process of globalization involves the transnationalization of production and capital, which gives rise to global trade. It is obvious that nation-states still exist and constantly interact with global financial and trade organizations. This course investigates how globalization has influenced public policy and draws on theories from economics and political science to elucidate the causes and consequences of globalization.

UNIT- I: Introduction

- a) Neo-Liberalism and Public Policy-New World Order
- b) Reforming Institutions: The State, Market and Public domain
- c) Globalization of Economic Activity

UNIT- II: Globalization and Public Policy: An Analytical Framework

- a) Interdependence: Challenges to External Sovereignty
- b) Globalization: Challenges to Internal Sovereignty
- c) Global Public Policy

UNIT- III: Pioneers in Global Public Policy

- a) Global Financial Markets
- b) Global Crime and Public Policy
- c) Trade in a Globalizing Industry

UNIT- IV: The New Bureaucracy

- a) Quality Assurance – New Occupation
- b) Organizations and Accountability
- c) Corporate Lobby Groups in the Policy Process

UNIT- V: Emerging Trends

- a) Learning Organizations
- b) Network Organizations
- c) Business Process Reengineering

Course Title: E- GOVERNANCE (Elective Course)

Credit: 4

Course Code: PGPPA2E002T

Course Objective

E-governance is a new concept and implies upgrading of the efficiency and effectiveness of the administrative machinery through the combination of ICT to deliver better, cost effective and speedy services to the citizen. Transition to electronic delivery of services in government not only involve changes to the systems, procedures and processes of relevant services but also affects the way in which the public and business community deals with the government. The aim of this course is to introduce the major discourses on e-governance with case studies for better understanding its implementation in India.

UNIT- I: Introduction

Governance in Digital Age (Introduction of ICTs in administration, Technological Adaptation, Reorganization of Administrative Structures and institutions)

- a) Meaning, Scope and Importance of e-Governance
- b) Evolution and present status of e-Governance in India

UNIT - II: Concepts

- a) Theories of e-Governance
- b) Models of e-Governance
- c) National E-Governance Plan

UNIT - III: Applications

- a) e-Governance in Rural Development
- b) e-Governance in Urban Administration
- c) e-Governance in Public Service Delivery System

UNIT - IV: Cases

- a) e-Literacy: Akshaya in Kerala
- b) Electronic Citizen Services: A Comparative outlook
- c) Digitalization of Land Records Administration: Bhoomi in Karnataka
- d) Automizing District Administration: The e-district project

UNIT- V: Issues

- a) e-Readiness
- b) Digital Divide
- c) e-Governance - Critical Factors
- d) e- Governance: Issues and Challenges (Resistance to Change, Laws, Skills, Competency, Capacity Building, Adaptation of Technology and Administrative Reforms)

Course Title: Statistical Methods and Computer Applications
FOUNDATION COURSE (Skill based)

Credit: 4

Course Code: PGPPA2F001T

Course Objective:

Statistical methods and computer applications are very useful instrument for the quality social science research. Computers are extremely useful for the processing of large quantities of data and reducing data to more manageable and easily understood forms. So the objective of this course is to enhance the knowledge about statistical methods and computer applications among the students of public policy and public administration.

UNIT- I

- Meaning, importance and Scope of Statistics
- Type of Data: Primary and Secondary, univariate, multivariate categorical data.
- Classification of Data: Function, Rule and Bases, Graphical representation of data (Histogram & Ogive).

UNIT- II

- Mean Median and Mode.
- Measures of deviation: average deviation, standard deviation.
- Normal distribution: Characteristics of Normal and probability curve and deviation from normality (Skewness and Kurtosis).

UNIT- III

- Estimate of Relation: Examining relationships by scatter plots.
- Types and methods correlation Analysis
- Introduction to Regression Analysis and Extrapolation

UNIT- IV

- Types of hypotheses, Confidence interval, level of significance and hypotheses testing, One tailed and two tailed tests, Types I and Type II Error
- Parametric tests: Critical ratio, Analysis of Variance (ANOVA)
- Non-Parametric tests: Chi-square

UNIT- V

- Use of computers in research: Data processing (Editing, coding and tabulation)
- Excel (single and multiple cells)
- Introduction to SPSS

Course Code : PGPPA3C00

Course Objective

Research in common parlance refers to a search for knowledge. We can define research as a scientific and systematic search for pertinent information on a specific topic. In fact, research is an art of scientific investigation. Research Methods for Social Science explains different research methods used today for conducting research in particular with public administration, governance and public policy. This course is intended as a sound introduction to study the research methods with an objective of understanding the difference between qualitative and quantitative research and able to use appropriate tools and techniques for problem solving.

UNIT - I Introduction

- a) Meaning, Objectives, Scope and Importance of Social Science Research
- b) Types of Research: Basic, Applied and Action
- c) Selection of Problem
- d) Hypothesis; Concepts and Types

UNIT - II: Methods of Research

- a) Historical Method
- b) Case Study Method
- c) Survey Method
- d) Content Analysis

UNIT - III: Tools of Data Collection

- a) Tools for Data Collection: Observation,
- b) Questionnaire,
- c) Interview,
- d) Rating Scale and Socio-metric Techniques.

UNIT - IV: Sampling

- a) Concept of Population and its types
- b) Random Sampling Techniques
- c) Non- Random Sampling Techniques
- d) Scales of Measurement

UNIT - V: Report Writing

- a) Research Report Writing : Concepts, Significance, and Characteristics
- b) Writing a Research Proposal
- c) Writing a Research paper
- d) Ethics in Research

SEMESTER-III

Course Title: Local Governance in India
Elective Course (INTERDISCIPLINARY)

Credit: 4

Course Code: PGPPA31001T

Course Objective

Decentralization is a widely used concept, and it is closely linked with democracy, development and good governance. Local government is one form of a decentralized system which is affected by the transfer of authority or responsibility for decision making, management or resources allocation from higher level of government to its subordinate units. This interdisciplinary course analyses the complexities of local governance, both rural and urban, in contemporary India. It discusses some of the lesser known aspects of the interface between panchayats and other institutions of local governance, whether district administration or parastatal agencies and civil society organizations.

UNIT - I: Introduction:

- Nature, Scope and Definitions of Local Government
- Philosophy and Significance of Local Government
- Historical Developments and Land Marks in the growth of Local Government

UNIT - II: Decentralization and Development:

- Decentralization : Socio, Political and Economic aspects of Decentralization
- Elements of Decentralization and Democratic Development
- Hurdles for Decentralization and trends of Recentralization

UNIT - III: Organization Structure:

- Structures of Rural Local Government (73rd CAA)
- Structures of Urban Local Government (74th CAA)
- Local Governments – Community Development, Economic Development and Environmental Development

UNIT - IV: Accountability and Control

- Executive Control, Legislative Control and Financial Control
- State and Local Government Relations
- Civil Society oversight

UNIT - V: Issue Areas

- Functions of Local Governments
- Human Resource Management at Local level & Official and Non-Official Relationship
- Local Governments in the context of Globalization

Elective Course (INTERDISCIPLINARY)

Course Code: PGPPA3I001T

Course Outcome-

- This interdisciplinary course analyses the complexities of local governance. It helps the students to learn some of the lesser-known aspects of the interface between panchayats and other institutions of local governance.
- It empowers the learner to actively participate in governance process and development as 'subjects' rather than 'objects', i.e., to take part in the process as an 'informed citizens' rather than as 'beneficiaries'.

Course Title: Financial Administration
Foundation Elective (S.MILL 2AS 19)

Credit: 4

Course Code: PGPPA3F001T

Course Objective

Finance is the fuel for the engine of public administration and it was defined as government is finance. This is quite correct, because almost everything the government does, require money. This course provides an overview of the activities, participants, and politics involved in the collection, custody, and expenditure of public revenue at various levels of government. Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to have knowledge of basic principles in public finance, accounting, and auditing that relate to public budgeting and the budgetary process.

UNIT- I: Introduction

- a) Public Finance: Evolution, Meaning and Scope
- b) Public Revenue: Meaning, Need, Classification and Principles of Revenue
- c) Public Expenditure: Meaning, Need and Classification

UNIT- II: Budget and Governance

- a) Public Budget: Meaning, Purpose and Significance
- b) Budget Preparation, Enactment and Execution
- c) Types of Budget: Line-Item Budget, Performance Budget, PPBS and Zero -Based Budgeting
- d) Gender Budget, Green Budget and Sun Set Legislation

UNIT- III: Tax Governance

- a) Concept of Taxation
- b) Classification of Taxes
- c) Principles of Taxation and Tax Governance in India

UNIT- IV: Financial Management in India

- a) Fiscal Federalism- Center State Financial Relations
- b) Finance Commission - Composition, Powers, Functions and Role
- c) Fiscal Management: Public Debt and Deficit Financing
- d) Monetary Policy and Fiscal Policy

UNIT- V: Control over Finances

- a) Accounting system in India
- b) Audit - Types of Audit and Audit Reforms in India
- c) Comptroller & Auditor General of India and Parliamentary Financial Committees

Course Title: LAW, ETHICS & GOVERNANCE

Elective (In Place of Dissertation)

Course Code : PGPPA3E001T

Course Objectives

Ethics is a set of standards that a society place on itself and which helps guide behaviour, choices and actions. In the real world, both values and institutions matter. Values are needed to serve as guiding stars, and they exist in abundance in our society. A sense of right and wrong is intrinsic to our culture and civilization. In this backdrop this course examines law and ethics as an instrument of governance. The major part of the course outlines the key concepts and debates associated with the law, ethics and governance and also cover the contemporary trends.

UNIT -I: Legal Foundations

- Fundamentals of Administrative Law
- Relationship between Law and Administration
- Constitution, Rule of Law and Administrative Law

UNIT - II: Law and Governance: Concepts

- Rule of Law and Doctrine of Separation of Powers
- Principles of Checks and Balances and Doctrine of Ultra-vires
- Delegated Legislation and Principles of Natural Justice.

UNIT - III: Ethics and Governance

- Ethical foundations of Governance
- Administrative Reforms and Ethics
- Accountability of Public Institutions

UNIT - IV: Quasi-Judicial Governance

- Administrative Tribunals
- National Water Tribunal
- National Green Tribunal

UNIT - V: Emerging Trends

- Local Bodies Ombudsman
- Protection of Whistleblowers
- Women Protection: Criminal Law (Amendment) Act, 2013 (Nirbhaya Act)

Course Title: ENGAGED POLICY AND GOVERNANCE

Credit: 4

Course Code: PGPPA3E002T

Course Objectives:

The forces of liberalization and globalization have increased uncertainties for governments and citizens leading to, in some cases, shrinkage of governments, which in turn has reduced the capacity of some governments to reach out to their citizens through normal bureaucratic channels. Though the direct representation through legislative level is very useful for those citizens capable of connecting with political spheres, many regard this system as not sufficient. The search is on as to how to compensate for these representational gaps. Questions are asked as to what indeed would be the best ways to mainstream citizens into government decision-making processes, more as a complement, rather than in contradiction, to existing democratic practices. Is it possible to devise some sort of framework for direct citizen-government dialoguing, an 'engaged governance' practice, as a means of mainstreaming citizens into the decision-making process, on an on-going basis. This course is aimed to examine the current initiatives in this discourse.

UNIT - I: Introduction

- Participatory Governance: An Overview
- The Rationale of Participation: Conceptual Issues
- New Governance Paradigm: The Emerging Partnerships/Engagement Initiatives

UNIT - II: Democracy, Social Inclusion and Development

- Democracy and Development
- Political Regimes, Political Participation and Social Inclusion
- Innovations and Pitfalls in Participatory Governance

UNIT - III: Engaged Governance

- Government Transparency in Policy Decisions
- Engaging the Community at Grassroots Level
- Electronic Platforms for Receiving and Implementing Public Input

UNIT - IV: Participatory Local Governance

- Participatory Governance Toolkits
- Measuring Engagement or Participation
- Issues in Engagement and Participation

UNIT - V: Case Studies

- Kudumbashree in Kerala, India
- Grameen Bank in Bangladesh
- Participatory Budgeting, Brazil
- Watershed Development Programme in Ralegansiddhi, India

Course Title: PUBLIC POLICY: CASE STUDIES

Credit: 4

Course Code: PGPPA3E003T

Course Objective:

Increasingly complex social, scientific and technological challenges call for carefully considered policy solutions underpinned by reliable knowledge and appropriate methods. Reducing poverty and accelerating development progress require improved policies. A better understanding of how research can contribute to pro-poor policies, and systems to put it into practice, could improve development outcomes. For this reason, the link between research and policy in development is of increasing interest, to both researchers and policy-makers. The presented case studies in this course provide an in-depth understanding of public policy making and implementation in India.

UNIT- I: Introduction

- a) Importance of Case Studies in Public Policy
- b) Case Study as a Representative Sample
- c) Building Theory from Case Studies

UNIT- II: Education Policy

- a) National Education Policy -1986
- b) Public Expenditure on Education in India
- c) Right to Education Act
- d) Corporatization of Education System

UNIT- III: Economic Policy

- a) New Economic Policy of 1991
- b) Liberalization and Growth of Indian Economy
- c) Mixed Economy to Globalization - Impact

UNIT- IV: Protective Discrimination

- a) Democratization of Power: Reservations
- b) Women Reservation's Bill
- c) Reservations in Corporate Sector

UNIT- V: ICT and Cyber Security

- a) National Policy on Information Technology 2012
- b) National Cyber Security Policy 2013
- c) Cyber Crime and Cyber Activism

The use of governance indicators, as applied to developing countries, has grown spectacularly in recent years. The governance indicators contribute to the growing empirical research of governance with advocacy tools for policy reform and monitoring. The indicators, and the underlying data behind them, are part of the current research and opinions that have reinforced the experiences and observations of reform-minded individuals in government, civil society, and the private sector. The main objective of this course is to present various methodologies of measuring governance and facilitate the students to have knowledge of the Human Development Indicators, Corruption perceptions Index with a comparative outlook of developing and developed countries.

UNIT - I: Introduction

- a) Measuring Governance: Need and Significance
- b) Measuring Governance: Methodological Plurality
- c) Measuring Governance: Inadequacy of Existing Measurement

UNIT - II: World Wide Governance Indicators (WGI)

- a) Political Stability and Absence of Violence
- b) Government Effectiveness and Regulatory Quality
- c) Rule of Law and Control of Corruption

UNIT - III: Models of Measuring Governance

SEMESTER - IV

Course Title: SOCIAL POLICY: STATE, MARKET AND SOCIETY

Course Code: PGPPA4C002T

Credit: 4

Course Objective:

Social Policy in a development context is the overarching framework of a wide-ranging inquiry into social policy that is developmental, democratic and socially inclusive. It is increasingly evident that social policy has a significance that goes beyond even the valid concerns about basic equity and minimal living standards, which form part of the social and economic rights of citizens. This course will explore the interplay between democracy and social policy from the perspective of state and market and civil society and focus on the role of democratic forces in the development of social policy.
