Social science deals with the study of society and the relationship among individuals within society. It includes business, sociology, commerce, demography, etc. Social science research provides authentic information to the people that are scientifically proven so that end users can rely upon it. It also helps us in finding the solutions to different social problems. It focuses on the fact that if we are able to find the root cause of any problem, we can find the more effective solution to it.

Social science is involved everywhere starting from healthcare sector, education to business world. It also contributes to social welfare, formulation of theories, development of methodology, social planning, prediction and control. Social scientists are involved with solving many of the world's biggest issues like cyber security, finding a cause of various new diseases and evolving new strategies for defense challenges faced by the countries. Various countries also take help from social researchers in order to deal with the day to day challenges faced by them.

Social research studies the society and helps in making laws for the benefit of the government. It helps in smooth functioning of the society by bringing social order and control. The research studies the trends of the past and predicts the future. The prediction of the future trends many tasks may it be businesses, government or the society. Hence, the growth and development of a society are impossible without social science research.

So far the conduction of such research is concerned; is quite an important task and we come across many phases in this whole process. Among many phases the most important seems to be the construction/ selection of tools of research in this field without which the conduction of such research is not possible. Such research is further divided into many types and accordingly it is a kind of challenge for the new researchers to see which tool will serve what purpose. Therefore, the said workshop has been designed to keep all these points in mind so that the coming researchers should gain in-depth knowledge about such tools, equip themselves with such knowledge and to proceed ahead and contribute to society to their maximum.
